Stormy, stormy night . . .

Albany and Clinton County ‘dodged the bullet’ so to speak Monday night when a strong system of storms moved through the region, producing heavy rains, strong winds, and as is shown in the above photograph made by NEWS staff member Brett Gibson, strong lighting. The storms also produced some hail in the area and region and at least one confirmed sighting of a funnel cloud near Grider Hill Dock on Lake Cumberland. However, no reports of serious damage or injury were made locally.

Baby Show, Gospel Singing, Second Sunday

Foothills '14 early events set to kick-off fall celebration

Yes, the temperatures are dropping, the days are shorter and already there is talk of that first frost that is a possibility any morning now.

A quick look across the hillsides also shows just a hint of color in the leaves as the surrounding trees appear just ready to jump into full blown autumn mode.

With all of those indications that Albany and Clinton County is clearly now well into the third of the four annual seasons, it's also clear that thoughts are beginning to turn toward the season's most anxiously awaited public event - the annual Foothills Festival.

Wait no longer - the first of this year's scheduled happenings take place this weekend.

Although the bulk of the 2014 Foothills Festival slate of activities and contests won't be taking place for yet another full week, there are a few events - three to be exact - that are on tap for this weekend to get the 2014 celebration off an running. Beginning with Saturday's annual Foothills Festival Baby Show held at the Clinton County High School, this year's show begins with registration at 9:00 a.m. and a scheduled show start at 10:00 a.m.

On Sunday, the early events continue with a pair of happenings, both centered at the Clinton County Learning Center.

The annual Foothills Old Time Gospel Singing will once again be held at the Learning Center beginning at 1:30 p.m., and event organizer Ricky Brown, a gospel music entertainer himself, has put together yet another fantascit lineup of regional and local names.

A free event that always provides great musical acts and fellowship.

At about the same time, getting underway at 1:00 p.m., the Clinton County Extension Office and Health Coalition is once again putting on an event that focuses on our health.

Second Sunday will also be held at the Clinton County Learning Center, and will feature walking trails, physical activities, health information, blood pressure checks, and inflatables.

The Early Childhood Council will also be sponsoring a Play and Learn (PAL) event with hands-on learning activities for children up to age eight.

Of course these pre-Foothills events are designed to put us in the mood for what is on the way for the main weekend lineup of events for the Octobert 16-18 portion of the Festival schedule.

With that in mind, the Clinton County News is proud to once again bring our readers its annual Foothills Festival special section.

Included in this week's newspaper, the Foothills Festival section is chock full of event descriptions, schedules, band profiles, contest details and of course a host of photographs reminding ev-

Pyles seeking change of venue in case of double-murder of father and son

A Monticello, Kentucky man who is facing two first degree murder charges in relation to the deaths of a Pickett County father and son in late July is apparently seeking a change of venue in his case, according to a recent article that appeared in the October 1 edition of the Wayne County Outlook.

According to that article, written by news editor Melodie Phelps, a preliminary hearing in the case had also been scheduled for Wednesday, October 8, which was too late for this week's press deadline.

Josh Pyles, 34, remained lodged in the Overton County Jail in Livingston without bond, according to court officials. He is charged with two counts of first degree murder in relation to the deaths of Danny Dowdy, 58, and his son, Cody Dowdy, 22, who were killed at their family business, the Sugar Shack. The two men were found dead at the business on July 31.

The business is located on the Kentucky-Tennessee border at Static.

Pyles was arrested on Friday, August 1 by the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation (TBI).

Pyles is represented by court-appointed attorney Laura Sebers.

The published report said Sebers has filed a motion in Pickett Circuit Court for a change of venue in the case, which was expected to have been heard at the preliminary hearing this week before a General Sessions Judge.

In the motion, Sebers notes that the venue should be changed “due to undue excitement against the defendant in Pickett County and

Schools show improvement in most recent test results release

Results for Kentucky schools from last spring's testing were released last Friday and once again, results in Clinton County schools were somewhat mixed, but overall each school showed some progress above the 2013 results.

The K-PREP (Kentucky Performance Report for Educational Progress) results showed the overall percentile in the school district was a 45, with Albany Elementary showing a vast improvement rate over the previous year's test and having percentile of 76, Clinton County High School, while not improving as much as in years past, did show some improvement with a percentile of 70. Both schools are classified a proficient/progressing.

Clinton County Middle School, whose overall score increased from 2013 to 2014, had a percentile of 28 and was classified as needs improvement/progressing/focus school (Students with Disabilities).

Instructional Supervisor Paula Little noted the reason CCMS was being classified in the bottom third in the state was its low score in the GAP area of students with disabilities, who scored low.

Focus designation places attention on how student groups are performing in Reading, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies, Writing and Language Mechanics. Schools are designated as focus based on: 1) the non-duplicated gap group performing in the lowest 10 percent or 2) individual student groups (i.e., limited English proficiency, students with free/reduced lunch, students with disabilities, ethnicity groups) performing three standard deviations below the mean--scoring below 99 percent of the state.

With the scores being broken down by GAP groups, the middle school did poorly on the scores involving students with disabilities, but overall, the school scored had decent results and showed some improvement in some core subject areas.

“Those with disabilities scored below the norm,” Little said, adding the state wants the school and district to put an emphasis on those students to help them achieve at a higher rate. “All other groups (at the middle school) did fine,” she said.

Little noted that one of the reasons the overall test results were positive this year was that the district as a whole did very well in the Program Review area, which this year counted a total of 23 percent of the total accountability score and that, according to Little, “was one area of greatest success.”

The Program Review evaluates overall progress in Arts and Hu-

Joyce Martin

Candidate for Albany City Council

My name is Joyce Brown Martin. I am a lifelong resident of Clinton County. My husband, Danny Martin, and I live in the Nolan Subdivision in Albany. I am the daughter of the later Victor and Dorothy Brown.

I have three daughters: Angelia Flowers Coleman, Danielle Flowers Hicks, and Ashley Flowers Hardin. Angelia is a nurse, and both Danielle and Ashley are teachers in the Clinton County Public School System.

I have always had a heart for people. As a young girl growing up in the Piney Woods Community of Clinton County, I witnessed neighbors helping neighbors. I saw what it meant to be a part of a tight knit community. Consequently, I developed a strong desire to help others.

As an adult, I became a nurse. I have spent the past 32 years caring for patients of all ages and backgrounds. Twenty-seven of those 32 years were spent with the Lake Cumberland Area Development District, managing nurses and case workers who cared for the elderly, as well as monitoring adult day care centers while working with the state to ensure proper elderly care took place.

I recently retired from nursing, but my heart for helping people remains the same.

I desire to be a voice for the citizens of Albany, just as I was a voice for the patients I was blessed enough to care for those many years.

I would very much appreciate the chance to represent the people of this fine city.

May God bless you all.

Several educators were on hand last month at the Kentucky Retired Teachers Middle Cumberland Fall Workshop on September 15, 2014 at Dale Hollow Lake State Resort Park. Pictured above at the workshop are: Charlotte Bernard, Supt. of Clinton County Schools, Faye Shehan, President of Kentucky Retired Teachers, and Shirley Ryan, President of Clinton County Retired Teachers and secretary of Middle Cumberland District Retired Teachers Association.

October 19-25 is Kentucky Retired Teachers Appreciation Week. The Retired Teachers of Clinton County give back to the community in the form of volunteer hours, school supply drives, scholarship monies, books to the local library and sponsoring the Grandparent Essay Contest.

Statewide last year Kentucky Retired Teachers Association members donated more than 964,691 hours, valued at nearly $19 million.

There are approximately 30,000 state members of KRTA, and 100 members in Clinton County. Take the time to let a retired teacher know they are appreciated.

Local District Court Judge participates in District Judges Fall College in Frankfort

Clinton District Court Judge Scarlett B. Latham and District Court Judge James M. Lawson participated in the 2014 District Judges Fall College that took place September 14-17 at the Administrative Office of the Courts in Frankfort.

The AOC provided the judicial education program for the state's district judges.

The District Court judges attended sessions on DUI, expungements, court technology and Senate Bill 200, the juvenile justice reform that the governor recently signed into law.

The legislation steers more young offenders into community-based treatment for underlying issues rather than locking them up in detention centers for non-violent acts, such as truancy.

Let's Celebrate National 4-H Week

Contact: Kim Foster, Extension Specialist for 4-H Youth Development

During the week of October 5-11, 4-H members and volunteers across Kentucky will celebrate the many facets of 4-H with various events and activities in honor of National 4-H Week.

The Kentucky 4-H program, the largest youth organization in the state, creates an environment for positive youth development. With more than 22,000 volunteers, the program gives hundreds of thousands of young Kentuckians the opportunity to form a sense of belonging with peers who may share similar interests. 4-H members are encouraged to learn independence and generosity while working toward their goals. They are provided safe environments to work in, positive role models to look up to and numerous leadership opportunities. Kentucky 4-H helps guide youth in the life skills that they find interesting and is a rewarding experience for those involved.

Gov. Steve Beshear signed a proclamation October 1 in Frankfort declaring National 4-H Week October 5-11.

During National 4-H Week, join Clinton County in the celebration by coming to the 2S Second Sunday event on Sunday, October 12th from 1:00-3:00 p.m. at the Clinton County Learning Center and Early Childhood Center. Second Sunday will be held in conjunction with the Foothills Festival gospel singing and will feature walking trails, physical activities, health information, blood pressure checks, and inflatables. The Early Childhood Council will also be sponsoring a Play and Learn (PAL) event with hands-on learning activities for children up to age eight.

For more information about National 4-H Week, contact your Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Clinton County Care and Rehabilitation Center to host Hall of Fame induction ceremony

Program honors local nursing home residents, staff and community members

Albany, KY - Clinton County Care and Rehabilitation Center will host a Hall of Fame Café celebration on Oct. 9, 2014 at 6:30 p.m. to honor residents at the local nursing home.

The purpose of the Hall of Fame program is to recognize the outstanding accomplishments and experiences of the center's residents. Employees, volunteers and community members are also honored for their contributions to the home and society as a whole.

This year's honorees for the Clinton County Care and Rehabilitation Center are:

- Edward Morrison
- Mary Arnold
- Debbie Sells
- Janie Flowers

Clinton County Care and Rehabilitation Center is one of 123 locations operated by Louisville, Ky.-based Signature HealthCARE. Launched in 2006, the Hall of Fame event is hosted annually by each Signature home at different times throughout the year. In recent years, Signature has taken a different approach by having each center host its Hall of Fame ceremony on the same day, creating a synchronized, company-wide event.

"Our residents have given so much to their hometowns and our nation, and these contributions deserve to be celebrated," said Signature President and CEO Joe Steier. "The Hall of Fame Café induction ceremonies are a small way for us to say 'thank you.'"

Clinton County Care and Rehabilitation's Hall of Fame celebration will be held Thursday, October 9, 2014, at 404 N. Washington St., Albany, KY, beginning at 6:30 p.m. For more information about the event, contact Donna Lee, Administrator at 387-6623.

TIMES JOURNAL Russell Springs

In a surprise statement on Tuesday morning, long-time County Clerk Lisha Popplewell announced that she was stepping down as county clerk effective immediately. Her official resignation came quite suddenly.

Judge-Executive Gary Robertson received her resignation dated September 30, also noted as her last day in office.

Robertson has appointed Ruth Hill as interim clerk until the official seating of the County Clerk-elect, Sue Popplewell Brockman, on January 1, 2015.

Popplewell first became county clerk in a 2004 off election year appointment and would win two elections in 2006 and 2010.

Her resignation read, "After much prayerful consideration, I am retiring from county government, effective September 30, 2014.

"Sue and I have discussed this and have asked our County

Judge/Executive, Gary Robertson, to appoint long-time Deputy Clerk Ruth Anne Hill, as your county clerk, effective October 1, 2014.

Ruth has served as deputy clerk since 1995 and has proven to be a valuable part of the clerk's office. She has the experience and knowledge to perform the duties and responsibilities of county clerk.

"Ruth has graciously accepted and will serve as your Russell County Clerk through December 21, 2014. At that time, Sue Popplewell Brockman will assume the duties for which she was elected in the May 2014 primary.

"The Lord has been so kind to me and my family and no words can express my gratitude for the opportunity He presented me. I truly believe, To everything there is a season and it has been my honor to serve the people of Russell County for this season in my life."

The fishing derbies at Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery have ended for this year following last week's successful Catch A Smile Senior Fishing Derby and Special Needs Fishing Derby, according to Wolf Creek NFH Project Leader James Gray.

Last Tuesday, 135 seniors participated in the derby with great weather overhead and trout biting in the water.

The huge turnout was pleasing to Gray and it was one of the hatchery's most successful events of the year.

"Of course, we cooked lunch for them and had several door prizes that we had gotten from local businesses that we gave away," he said. "Plus, they caught a lot of fish."

The special needs derby was also a hit as students from both Russell County and Clinton County took part in the event.

"We work through the school systems of each and they identify kids they think fit that category," Gray said. "I thing almost every kid caught a fish that day."

He said the participating students also received a t-shirt, WC-NFH medallion and a pressed fish hatchery penny.

"We also cooked for them," he said. "We had hamburgers, hot dogs, chips and all that good stuff."

Russell County Schools Superintendent Michael Ford said the derby is such a special day for the district's most deserving students.

"The students start talking about this event as soon as school starts in August," Ford said. "We sincerely appreciate Mr. Gray, the staff, donors and many volunteers at the Wolf Creek National Fish Hatchery that make this event possible. I know I speak for everyone when I say we are already looking forward to next year's event."

Gray said the one other event coming up in October is the Outdoor Eco Day for all Russell County fourth graders.

"There will be nine different stations that they will go through for 20 minutes each," he said. "It is all environmental education based and covers a variety of topics."

With the end of the fishing derby season at the hatchery means much of the Hatchery

Creek stream restoration project will get going.

Approximately 200 feet of Hatchery Creek closed to fishing last week as part of the ongoing stream restoration project. The upper 150-foot section of the creek remains open for fishing.

"The whole entire project won't be complete until early spring," Gray said. "They can't let the water flow through that until it gets built."

The overall project involves construction of a 6,000-foot channel to divert the creek's flow away from the heavily eroded ravine which introduced large amounts of sediment into the Cumberland River. Construction on the new channel will feature a naturalized course with pools and riffles designed to reduce sediment.

The creek is fed by the hatchery, which draws its waters from the dam at Lake Cumberland. Because the hatchery's outflow is so cold, the creek is stocked with trout and is a popular trout fishing area.

Currently, Hatchery Creek forms a T-intersection with the eroded reservoir.

Contractors are building a temporary shortcut to allow the creek to flow into the ravine just downstream of its current influence. This shortcut, once completed, will be open for fishing while contractors rebuild the T-intersection as part of the new creek channel.

The upper ravine will be closed to access during the project. The lower section of the ravine will otherwise remain open to angling.

Hatchery Creek is currently open, with access on the east bank.

Once the diversion channel is built and stabilized the 200 foot lower section of the creek will be closed until the project is complete, approximately 100 feet of hatchery creek will remain open.

Flowers, 36, of Hilham, was arrested by Officer Billy Hammock. Flowers was arrested for Schedule IV drugs, Schedule II drugs, possession of a legend drug and unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia.

Flowers was released on a $6,500 bond and had an initial court date of September 12.

On September 5, Jason Murphy, 29, of Allons, was arrested by THP Sgt. Billy Pierce.

Murphy was charged with Schedule VI drugs and unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia.

Murphy was released on a $15,000 bond and had an initial court date of September 12.

On September 9, Cassie J. Murphy, 35, of Hilham, was arrested by Officer Mike Kruger. Murphy was arrested for theft of property over $1,000 and driving while under license suspended. She was released on a $6,500 bond with her first court appearance on September 12.

deployed his taser.

He said he was handcuffed and given the option of going to jail or the hospital.

The lawsuit goes on to allege that Durham told Bohannon that "if he will refuse medical treatment, all of this will go away," after which Bohannon "tried to explain... who he was" and asked Durham to call MPD Officer Mike Phillips.

Phillips then went to the hospital and drove Bohannon home after he refused medical treatment, according to the lawsuit.

Exactly one year after the incident occurred, Bohannon named Davidson, Cross and Matheney, along with the Town of Monterey, Police Chief Bill Randolph and Officer Durham, in a lawsuit, claiming the "actions and inactions" of the defendants caused him to "suffer constitutional violations."

The lawsuit says, "Specifically, the defendants operated to violate Carl Bohannon's right to not be subjected to excessive force.... (his) right to not be summarily punished without due process of law... and (his) right to be accorded equal protection under the laws as guaranteed... under the Fourteenth Amendment."

Bohannon claims Officer Durham "committed excessive force" against him without cause.

He alleges Chief Randolph was "acting in a supervisory capacity" and "failed to remedy a continuing and egregious wrong after learning about it."

As for the town, Bohannon alleges "the acts, omissions and conduct... constitute assault, battery and negligence under the laws of the State of Tennessee."

His claims that Monterey "should be held liable for all said torts as the individual defendants were acting in the course and scope of their employment... and their actions were foreseeable."

The lawsuit goes on to say the town has not waived immunity under the Tennessee Governmental Tort Liability Act, which includes but is not limited to "negligent hiring, negligent infliction of emotional distress, assault and battery."

Bohannon is seeking a jury trial as well as punitive damages not to exceed $500,000 and compensatory damages not to exceed $350,000.

Chief Randolph, who spoke with the Herald-Citizen, said he stands behind Durham and his use of the taser.

"I think the officer was justified in what he did," he said.

"This is basically a lawsuit over the use of the taser and the lack of training for (it). But the officer who used the taser had just gotten recertified and been through training three weeks prior to this incident." Randolph went on to note Durham's many years of service.

"He's a veteran officer — he's been in law enforcement for 20 years or better — and I stand behind his decision to use (the taser)," he said. "I'm not going to second guess it."

THE HERALD CITIZEN Cookeville, TN

What began as a trip to the Dairy Queen last year ended in a tasing for a Monterey man.

Now, he's suing the town, police chief, an officer and three other Monterey citizens.

According to the lawsuit — filed Sept. 26 with the Putnam County Circuit Court Clerk's Office — Carl Bohannon of Home-run Drive had been sitting in his car at the Monterey Dairy Queen on Sept. 26, 2013, talking on his phone when another car "came speeding" into the parking lot.

In that car were Monterey residents Jason Davidson, Jacob Cross and Amanda Matheney, who allegedly hit Bohannon's car, causing the driver's side rearview mirror to break.

Bohannon alleges that when he confronted them, Davidson and Cross got out of the car and "started violently attacking" him while Matheney "encouraged the assault."

The lawsuit says Bohannon "did not respond with any physical aggression" and that Davidson, Cross and Matheney left him and pulled up to the drive-through window.

Bohannon said he walked to the car and told them they could not leave until police arrived, at which point the three allegedly got out, with Davidson and Cross assaulting him again.

"After several moments, the defendants abruptly stopped assailing (Bohannon) and stepped away from him," the lawsuit says.

"At this time, the plaintiff was lying on his stomach, and he tried to get up."

Bohannon claims he then felt "sharp pains" in his back and fell to the pavement after Monterey Police Officer Donathan Durham

WAYNE CO. OUTLOOK Monticello

Formal sentencing was held on Tuesday, September 23 for a Wayne County man who pled guilty to manslaughter charges in connection with the May 2012 death of Roger Dean.

Jimmy Massengale was sentenced to 12 years in prison when he appeared before Circuit Judge Vernon Miniard, Jr. Massengale received a sentence of 12 years on the manslaughter charge and five years on a charge of possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

The sentences will run concurrent for a total of 12 years, according to court documents.

Massengale was originally charged with murder in the shooting incident that occurred May 27, 2012 on Davis Street in Monticello. Officers said the victim, who was an acquaintance of Massengale, sustained multiple gunshot wounds.

Massengale entered the plea agreement which amended the murder charge to manslaughter in July. Under the agreement, three counts of wanton endangerment against Massengale were dismissed.

According to agents with the Lake Cumberland Area Drug Task Force, Patrick Humble was arrested on September 24 and charged with two counts of trafficking in a controlled substance.

Humble was lodged in the Wayne County Detention Center on a $10,000 cash bond.

The Lake Cumberland Area Drug Task Force was assisted by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Fall Field Day is Tuesday, October 21

The Clinton County Extension Service will be hosting a field day on Tuesday, October 21, at Springhaven Farm located on Highway 639 in Clinton County.

Springhaven Farm is owned and operated by Steve and Carol Peddicord. The program will begin at 2:30 p.m., CST.

UK forage specialist Dr. Ray Smith will be on hand to discuss the advantages of stockpiling fescue. We have a stockpiled fescue demonstration setup using different nitrogen rates.

Dr. Smith will also be discussing options for reseeding or renovating pastures and hayfields. We will look at two fields on the farm that have been reseeded to orchardgrass and clover.

Also, Joe Russell, District Conservationist for the NRCS, will be discussing NRCS programs available to producers.

Springhaven Farm has implemented some of these conservation practices that we will be able to look at and discuss.

Corey Anderson with FSA will be on hand to discuss programs at FSA, such as the livestock forage program and livestock indemnity program.

The afternoon will conclude with a meal prepared by the Twin Lakes Cattle Association. The field day is being sponsored by the Clinton County Soil Conservation District and the Clinton County Farm Bureau Federation.

Everyone is invited, so make plans to attend this field day to learn more about improving forage production and conservation practices. Please call the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Office at 606-387-5404 if you plan to attend so meal preparations can be made.

This field day will also meet educational requirements for the CAIP cost-share program for producers needing to attend a meeting. I look forward to seeing you at the field day.

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability or national origin.

Upcoming meetings

Beef Quality Assurance to meet October 23

A Beef Quality Assurance (BQA) meeting will be held on Thursday October 23, at 6:00 p.m. at the Clinton County Extension Office. A BQA number is required for producers that are receiving cost-share on the genetics portion of the CAIP. These meetings will also serve as an educational component of the cost-share program. For more information contact the Clinton County Extension Office at 606-387-5404.

Forage Field Day set for October 21

A forage field day will be held on Tuesday October 21st at Springhaven Farm in Albany, program will start at 2:30 p.m., CST. UK Extension forage specialist Dr. Ray Smith will be on hand to discuss the advantages of stockpiling fescue for winter grazing. Dr. Smith will also discuss options for renovating or reseeding pasture and hay fields. Make plans to attend this field day to learn about utilizing fescue for winter grazing and to see some conservation practices. Please call the Clinton County Extension Office at 606-387-5404 if you are planning to attend so meal preparations can be made.

Clinton County Relay For Life committee continues fundraising events

The Clinton County Relay For Life Committee met again on Monday evening, October 6 at the Early Childhood Center and continued making plans for future fundraisers, setting goals and attempting to bring together more teams and sponsors to raise money locally for the ongoing fight against cancer, a disease that has touched thousands of lives in one way or another right here in Albany and Clinton County.

October is also Breast Cancer Awareness Month nationwide and locally, Albany IGA is selling pink ribbons to be displayed in its store window with proceeds benefitting the local Relay For Life's cancer fight.

During the meeting Trish Miller was chosen to be the Clinton County Event Leader, which was formerly known as chairperson, with the stipulation that due to her busy schedule, she would receive a lot of support from other committee members.

Two representatives of a new team from Grider Hill Dock was also in attendance at Monday night's meeting--which also saw an impromptu tornado warning being issued for the county while the meeting was ongoing.

Adam Smedberg, RLS Western Division leader once again chaired the meeting and asked about any future fundraisers being planned locally prior to the end of the calendar year.

He noted that Somerset Community College-Clinton Campus was planning a couple of events, including the Cosmetology Department doing a Paint Your Nails Pink fundraiser for October during the Breast Cancer Awareness month. SCC is apparently also planning an upcoming chili dinner fundraiser as well.

There have already been some successful fundraising over the months, including "Pink-Out" nights at CCHS in both football and volleyball. There will also be pink-out nights during the upcoming basketball season at both the high school and middle school with those dates to be announced later and the Relay For Life committee will have a booth set up at next weekend's Foothills Festival.

The committee also began reviewing returning teams, in which there are seven from last year. The committee hopes to almost double the amount that will be participating and taking part in next spring's actual Relay For Life event. Also they are recruiting more corporate and business sponsorships. Sponsorships, which include various advertisements at Relay events and being recognized on the event website, range from $250 to $1,500.00.

In 2014, Clinton County's Relay For Life collected some $51,000 but with added teams, sponsors and fundraising events, they have set the 2015 goal at $55,000.

The committee also set regular meeting dates through January of next year, beginning with this month. The committee will begin meeting the last Tuesday of each month at 5 p.m. (with the exception of December when they will not meet) at the ECC, with the next meeting scheduled for Tuesday, October 28 at 5 p.m. Anyone interested in getting involved with Relay For Life, including possibly forming a team, are encouraged to attend.

KSP Employee cracks 30 year old cold case

Due to the diligent efforts of a Kentucky State Police civilian employee, a 30-year-old missing persons' case has been solved.

In May of 2014, the KSP Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) Section received prints from a 1984 death investigation from Dr. Emily Craig, Regional Systems Administrator with the National Missing and Unidentified Persons System (NamUs).

The prints had been submitted to the Jefferson Co. Sheriff's Office and the Jefferson County Corrections Department in 1984, but they were unable to identify the victim. The prints were entered into NamUs in 2008.

Keith Dollinger, a forensic specialist analyst with KSP AFIS, was asked to review the missing person's case due to his familiarity with the NamUs system. Initial examination suggested that the victim's prints had been improperly recorded at the time of the autopsy.

In reviewing the fingerprints, Dollinger recognized, based upon pattern classification and ridge-flow within the fingerprint pattern, that one set of prints appeared to be transposed (left-hand fingerprints on a right-hand strip card and right-hand fingerprints on a left-hand strip card). Searches of the FBI's AFIS system yielded a match to Roy Andrew Langley, (DOB 11/22/1949), who had been struck and killed in 1984 by a semi-tractor trailer while walking on I-65 near Elizabethtown.

The victim's sister was located in Texas and formally notified of her brother's death.

KSP Forensic Supervisor Paul Dorman said Dollinger's expertise and dedication to his job led to the case being solved.

"Keith's dedication and desire to make sure every possible test has been done in every case he receives not only solved this case, but provided the victim's family closure," says Dorman.

Dollinger is an eight-year veteran of the agency and resides in Simpsonville, Ky.

manities, Practical Living and Career Studies and Writing.

“Teachers and the program review committee members worked extremely hard last year gathering evidence and the program review scores show their diligence paid dividends,” Little noted.

As far as the district overall, we are proud of the progress that was made and thrilled at the progress shown at Albany Elementary

“The district is working closely with the administration at CCMS to determine appropriate solutions to help raise students’ scores and place more emphasis on determining appropriate strategies in helping students with disabilities close the achievement gap,” she said.

Little also noted the high school remained in the proficient category in the latest round of tests that were taken last May. The school showed improvement in Social Studies, Science and College and Career Readiness, but did show some decline in the area of math.

Albany Elementary, which had an overall score of 71 (up from 53 the previous year) to go along with the 76 percentile rank, had vast improvements from the previous year in every area, including reading, math, science and language mechanics, the latter in which its score was above the state average.

Total information, including numbers, percentages and any other information about the school in general can be found on the following website: <http://applications.education.ky.gov/src/default.aspx>.

due to the unfair and inflammatory publicity and the general hostilities toward the defendant from local authorities.”

The motion states that it is the belief of the defendant there are “not many citizens of Pickett County, Tennessee who have not heard of the defendant, Joshua Pyles, with regard to the incident at hand and many are familiar with Mr. Pyles including the sitting judge and the sheriff of Pickett County.”

“It is of great concern to the defendant and his counsel that he could not receive a fair trial in Pickett County due to the publicity, hostilities toward the defendant and generalized fear engineered by the public,” the motion states.

Court officials are uncertain where the preliminary hearing was to be held, since Pyles is housed in a detention facility that is not located in Pickett County. He was arraigned in Pickett County on August 5, where he entered a plea of not guilty.

The Sound of Music at Good Neighbors Theater

The Sound of Music comes to Good Neighbors Theatre, located at 8780 Highway 111, on October 16-18, 23- 25 at 7:00 p.m. and also a Sunday Matinee performance on October 19 at 2:00 p.m.

Directed by Melva Nunnery, with musical direction by Kathy Hicks, and choreography by Amanda Hatfield, The Sound of Music will be one of the biggest productions ever attempted at Good Neighbors Theatre.

Tickets are available at the Pickett County Chamber of Commerce. Adult admission is $15 and children 3-12 are $10. Children under two years of age are free. All tickets are non-refundable. Unpaid tickets on Will Call not claimed 10 minutes prior to curtain are subject to be released for resale.

The original Broadway production, starring Mary Martin and Theodore Bikel, opened on November 16, 1959 and has enjoyed numerous productions and revivals since then.

It was adapted as a 1965 film musical starring Julie Andrews and Christopher Plummer, which won five Academy Awards.

The show with music by Richard Rodgers, lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II and a book by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse is based on the memoir of Maria von Trapp, The Story of the Trapp Family Singers.

Many of its songs have become standards, such as “Edelweiss”, “My Favorite Things”, “Climb Ev’ry Mountain”, “Do-Re-Mi”, and the title song “The Sound of Music”. The Sound of Music was the final musical written by Rodgers and Hammerstein.

One of the most popular movie musicals of all time, The Sound of Music is based on the true story of the Trapp Family Singers.

DID YOU KNOW? At the end of The Sound of Music, the von Trapp family climbs over the mountains to freedom into neighboring Switzerland. In reality, Salzburg does not border Switzerland; it borders Germany. If the real von Trapp family had actually climbed over the Obersalzberg Mountain, as they do in the film version, they would have found themselves face to face with Hitler’s mountain retreat, Eagle’s Nest at Berchtesgaden.

everyone of all the fun we had last year - and inviting the local Foothills fans, as well as those from across the region to come on out and get in on the fun.

Traditionally, it’s the last outdoor gathering before colder winter sets in, and it looks like the surrounding mountains are going to once again be alive in color - just in time to put us in the Foothills Festival celebratory mood.

We hope you find this year’s special Foothills Section preview section both informative, and entertaining.

Enjoy the events on hand for the next two weekends, and as always, remember to . . .

Dawgs move to 3-4 on the year

The Clinton County Bulldogs' Football team traveled to Lynn Camp this past Friday night. Although the Bulldogs lost the contest 28-22, Clinton County was down early in the second quarter, 22-0, before senior Lucas Gibson ran two punt returns back for touchdowns.

Head Coach Jamie Miller said he is pretty sure no one had ever had two in one game.

"He ran one back for about 90 yards and the other one for about 60," Miller said. "That kind of swung the momentum our way and we tied the game at half-time."

Miller said he thought his defense did a great job only allowing Lynn Camp to score six points in the second half, but he said his team still has to do a better job of taking care of the football.

"Anytime you have a turnover you are giving the other team a chance to score," Miller said. "We had a couple of bad snaps and a interception, but it was better than it had been."

Clinton County realized they could play with Lynn Camp in the second quarter and started moving the ball on offense.

"I felt like they came out flat," Miller said. "They have to overcome the road trip. After getting 22 points of our own in the second quarter, we came out after halftime and marched down the field to about the 10 yard line and just couldn't capitalize."

This week, Clinton County will travel to Red Boiling Springs, Tennessee, for its eighth game of the season.

Miller said it's hard to tell what they have because they have won games they probably shouldn't have and lost games they should have easily won.

After Friday night's game, Clinton County goes into the bye week and Miller said it will be a warm welcome to the season.

"We are a little banged up right now and that week off will do us a lot of good," Miller said. "We will still practice, but we won't do as much hitting in order to give our guys time to heal and get ready for our final two games."

Clinton County's game Friday night will have a 7 p.m. kick off time.

Volley Dawgs fall to McCreary

The Clinton County Volley Dawgs move to 10-11 on the year with back-to-back losses against McCreary County, 2-1 last week, and Russell County, 3-0 Monday night.

The Volley Dawgs will travel to Wayne County Thursday night, followed by the final regular season game of the season on Tuesday, October 14 at Adair County.

Soccer teams round out seasons

The Clinton County boys' soccer team hosted Taylor County on Tuesday, September 30. The Dawgs were defeated by a final score of 5-0 and moves its record to 0-13 on the year.

The Dawgs will round out regular season play with a game on Thursday, October 9 at home against Pulaski County at 5:30 p.m.

Clinton County will travel to Barren County Monday, October 13 to take on Barren County in district play. That game is set to start at 5:30 p.m. at the Barren County/Glasgow Soccer complex.

The girls' soccer team will also play Monday against Barren County at 6:15 at the same location.

Sports in Kentucky

Kentucky earns signature win; Bluegrass State loses an icon, Jimmy Feix

Bittersweet in the Bluegrass. The sweet: Five games in, Kentucky owns its most significant football win in decades. Happened on a Saturday when SEC powers scrambled the standings, left us to see Tennessee and Vanderbilt at the bottom and, ahem, that basketball school near the top. The bitter: On Sunday the Bluegrass State lost an icon, Jimmy Feix, gentleman ball coach, gentleman otherwise, best of the best son of Kentucky.

In Lexington there is revelry in the land this week. Mid-October and Kentucky folk are abuzz with Air Raid ... JoJo Kemp ... Bud Dupree and nary a word about Willie and The Twins.

In fact, beyond Auburn and Mississippi schools, buzz across the Southeastern Conference is about "that basketball school up north."

Two questions:

- "Karl did whaaaaa to South Carolina? Must be misprint."
- "Anybody notice Kentucky is this close (at Florida) to being, well, unbeaten?"

Last Saturday, the heavens opened and football gods put stars in new alignment.

At a little before 8 o'clock, the Spurriers punched Kentucky in the mouth, put the home crowd on mute, led 14-0. Behind his plastic play card, the Ole Ball Coach must have yawned and whispered, "prime time teevee, huh? Let's show off a little."

Carolina's Mike Davis buzzed through Kentucky's front as if it were a scout team on a Wednesday. The Wildcats' old bugaboo was back, 'can't stop the run.'

Home team helped. Lost poise eight times – gifting Carolina 80 yards in penalties with macho man foolish momentum killers. Then, everything changed. The football gods winked at one another.

The Gamecocks had provided a story line, Kentucky's All-New-People provided drama, Neil Brown directed the show, and JoJo Kemp starred in it.

By halftime, Carolina had 17, but All-New-People Kentucky also had 17, and Big Mo.

End of third quarter Carolina had punched the Wildcats again, gone up 31-17 and Old Familiar began buzzing in the crowd, "... we gave 'em all they could handle, nice try, boys, get 'em next year."

Suddenly, quarterback Patrick Towles was a wide receiver and Carolina was befuddled. Couldn't defend between the guards. JoJo Kemp became a Heisman guy and Steve Spurrier was outcoached.

UK play calling was imaginative, nothing short of brilliant.

Then came the mystery. Carolina abandoned its run offense that had produced 282 yards. The Spurriers would throw their way back into the game. Nadda. At 2:29-to-go, barely 17 seconds after Kemp and Austin MacGinniss had tied the game, defensive tackle Mike Douglas and line-backer Bud Dupree rose up and sealed it.

Bonkers for Big Blue Nation; Signature win for Mark Stoops Inc.

Count me among those who believe his brain was already gauging impact on recruits: 'did-ya-see-what-we-just-did?'

All-New-People Kentucky defined ...

Infusion of true and red-shirt freshmen with speed, quickness and savvy, is obvious. The all new part ...

Holdover players bought in, embraced their coaches' package.

Expect to win for 60 minutes instead of play gallant then surrender in 45-50 is new.

Aggression coupled with confidence levels that build on themselves.

Team-ness. At game's end JoJo Kemp turned a predictable "how heroic are you?" question into "It's not just me. It's 'Hey, Why Not Kentucky?'" commercial (for prospects).

Epilogue: From football gods to Big Blue Nation: A wink and nod and bolt of lightning then whisperings of bowl game eligibility. And no mention of Willie and The Twins for another week.

EASTERN KENTUCKY

Typically put in media half-shadow by Big Blue Nation big noise, Eastern Kentucky's gem-of-a-5-and-oh start (2-0 in OVC) has not earned a 48-point headline yet.

To set the tailgate and add suspense – four of ECU's five wins have come on the road. This week a home date with OVC newcomer Eastern Illinois (1-4).

Suspense factor: The Colonels clubbed Austin Peay 31-0 last week. EIU's lone win was September 20, Austin Peay, 63-7.

JIMMY FEIX

Best of the best among Kentucky ball coaches, Jimmy Feix left us at 83.

For me, qualifications of a hero. Leader of men with a bark when necessary, but always a grin and twinkle in the eye.

All the wins, trophies, titles, newspaper headlines and accolades are dust now. Feix's departure leaves us with these questions: Did I contribute well to humankind? Was I loyal to something beyond self?

He did, and more.

"Coach Feix was a legendary figure in so many ways," Todd Stewart, director of athletics at Western Kentucky University said in a release. "His influence transcended far beyond his role as WKU's head football coach and athletics director."

The ever affable Man from Henderson was best of the best among college ball coaches in Kentucky with whom I dealt through decades. Forthright, good humored, effervescent personality, a contrast too many in his profession then and now. And, Feix kept a firm grip on who he was in the grand universe.

Most admirable, his loyalty. Feix left the friendly confines of Henderson in the 1940s for Bowling Green, earned success as a football player, then ball coach and director of athletics. He gave Western 27 years of his professional life and the rest of it to community.

Legacy? His sons are Doctor Jimmy B. Feix of Milwaukee and Doctor Jeff Feix of Nashville.

Writer/philosopher Dr. Joseph Campbell said: "A hero is someone who has given his or her life to something bigger than oneself."

Jimmy Feix. And so it goes.

TURNOVERS

by Alan B. Gibson

Dawgs come close - but come up short

After mounting a comeback in the first half of play - much on the double kick-off scoring returns of Lucas Gibson, the Bulldogs came up just short of posting a victory this past Friday night, giving up a 28-22 decision while visiting the Lynn Camp High Wildcats.

The loss is the third straight for our Dawgs, after an earlier three game win streak earlier in the season.

Now, with just three games remaining on this 2014 schedule, the Bulldogs will spend the next two outings facing teams from across the state line in Tennessee, in what will certainly be a couple of Dawg fights.

This Friday night we head to Red Boiling Springs, Tennessee to take on those Bulldogs, who are currently 4-3 overall, and are coming off back to back victories, the most recent a 16-15 win over Goodpasture (Tennessee) Christian. The week prior, the RBS Bulldogs picked up a 32-24 win over another team of Bulldogs - Clay County.

Speaking of Clay County - and now we are - that will be Clinton County's next opponent in waiting on the schedule, following a week off for the Foothills Festival break on Friday, October 17.

The Clay County Bulldogs will be in town on Friday, October 24, to face Clinton County on what will be Senior Night.

With the year winding down now for our gridiron Bulldogs, the final game of the season is slated for Halloween night, Friday, October 31, when our Bulldogs travel to Jackson, County.

Fall lineup winding down for some

With golf already over in this lineup of fall sports, and as I mentioned above, football now heading for the final three games, most of the other fall sports are also looking at the final days of competition.

Soccer, both girls and boys, are finishing up regular season matches this week and will be playing in the district tournament at Glasgow next Monday.

Our Volley Dawgs will see regular season matches coming to an end with a road trip next Tuesday to Adair County, followed by District Tournament play on October 20 at Metcalfe County and hopefully regional tournament play the following Monday, October 27, at Warren Central.

Of course the squad with the most events still to be completed is the squad that always gets the latest start in the fall lineup at CCHS, the Runnin' Dawgs Cross Country team.

Meets continue until the early weeks of November and local fans are reminded to get up early on Saturday, October 18 for the Foothills Festival 5K Run that always sees most of the members of both the high school, as well as members of the Clinton County Middle School Cross Country teams .participating - usually in their blue and white uniforms.

Without a local course and the chance to actually compete in front of local fans, these young athletes always clearly enjoy hearing the cheers and encouragement from Clinton County fans as they head toward the Foothills 5K finish line.

In Memory of James D. (Bud) Polston

Oct. 28, 1945 - Oct. 9, 2007

You have been gone seven years now, but you are not forgotten!

I still miss you as the days and years pass.

I still miss you as the pain and grief softens.

I still miss you as new memories are made.

I still miss you as I smile and laugh.

I still miss you today and everyday. I still miss you!!!

Sadly missed by wife: Barbara. Children: Renee, Chris and David: Grandchildren: Tara, Mercedes, and Alexis. Great-grandchildren: Kayleigh, Haven, Sophia and Zayden

Thanks

Thanks to everyone for your prayers, love, acts of kindness and your support during the death of our mother, Betty Harlan.

Josephine, Wendell, Roy, Randell and families

In Loving Memory of Willie Kay Smith

Oct. 10th

Remembering you is easy, I do it every day, but missing you is heartache that never goes away.

Always missing you, Carla

USS Cole attacked by terrorists

October 12, 2000

At 12:15 p.m. local time, a motorized rubber dinghy loaded with explosives blows a 40-by-40-foot hole in the port side of the USS Cole, a U.S. Navy destroyer that was refueling at Aden, Yemen. Seventeen sailors were killed and 38 wounded in the attack, which was carried out by two suicide terrorists alleged to be members of Saudi exile Osama bin Laden's al Qaeda terrorist network.

The Cole had come to Aden at the southern tip of the Arabian peninsula to refuel on its way to join U.S. warships that were enforcing the trade sanctions against Iraq. It was scheduled to remain in the port for just four hours, indicating that the terrorists had precise information about the destroyer's unannounced visit to the Aden fueling station. The terrorists' small boat joined a group of harbor ships aiding the Cole moor at a refueling, and they succeeded in reaching the U.S. warship unchallenged. Their dinghy then exploded in a massive explosion that ripped through the Cole's port side, badly damaging the engine room and adjoining mess and living quarters. Witnesses on the Cole said both terrorists stood up in the moment before the blast.

The explosion caused extensive flooding in the warship, causing the ship to list slightly, but by the evening crew members had managed to stop the flooding and keep the Cole afloat. In the aftermath of the attack, President Bill Clinton ordered American ships in the Persian Gulf to leave port and head to open waters. A large team of U.S. investigators was immediately sent to Aden to investigate the incident, including a group of FBI agents who were focused exclusively on possible links to Osama bin Laden. Bin Laden had been formally charged in the U.S. with masterminding the 1998 bombings of U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania that killed 224 people, including 12 Americans.

Six men believed to be involved in the Cole attack were soon arrested in Yemen. Lacking cooperation by Yemeni authorities, the FBI has failed to conclusively link the attack to bin Laden.

Jimmy Stewart stars in Harvey

October 13, 1950

On this day in 1950, the actor James Stewart stars in Harvey, a drama about an eccentric man whose best friend is a giant invisible rabbit. Directed by Henry Koster and based on a Pulitzer Prize-winning play of the same name by Mary Chase, Harvey earned Stewart the fourth Best Actor Oscar nomination of his career. Considered one of Hollywood's all-time greatest leading men, Stewart appeared in some 80 movies during his career, including Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, The Philadelphia Story and It's a Wonderful Life, and was best known for his portrayals of decent, idealistic men.

Stewart was born on May 20, 1908, in Indiana, Pennsylvania. At Princeton University, he performed in musical comedies with the Triangle Club before graduating in 1932 with a degree in architecture. There wasn't a great demand for architects in the early 1930s, during the Great Depression, so Stewart turned to acting, landing his first big role on Broadway in 1934 in Yellow Jack. The following year he signed a contract with MGM and made his big-screen debut in The Murder Man, starring Spencer Tracy. He went on to appear in such movies as You Can't Take It With You (1938); Mr. Smith Goes to Washington (1939), in which his performance as an idealistic senator catapulted him to stardom and earned him his first Best Actor Oscar nomination; Destry Rides Again (1939), in which he played a marshal opposite Marlene Dietrich; and The Philadelphia Story (1940), in which he co-starred with Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant. In 1941, at the age of 33, Stewart joined the military as a pilot. Before he returned home in 1945, he reportedly flew 20 bombing missions over Germany.

In 1946, Stewart starred in the director Frank Capra's It's a Wonderful Life. According to Stewart's 1997 obituary in the New York Times: "His archetypal role (and his own favorite) was that of George Bailey, the small-town banker in 'It's a Wonderful Life,' Frank Capra's moralistic fantasy in which the hero is rescued from suicide by a pixieish angel who shows him how much meaner life would have been in his hometown without him. The 1946 feature-length Christmas card was a failure among audiences, who dismissed it as overly sentimental, but in later decades it became one of the most popular movies ever made and a holiday staple on television."

After Stewart's acclaimed performance in Harvey, he appeared in such films as The Glenn Miller Story (1954), in which he played the popular big-band leader; Alfred Hitchcock's Rear Window (1954), in which he played a wheelchair-bound voyeur photographer; The Man Who Knew Too Much (1956); and The Spirit of St. Louis (1957), which featured Stewart as the famous aviator Charles Lindbergh. His films during the 1950s also include Hitchcock's Vertigo (1958), in which he starred as a retired detective opposite Kim Novak; and Anatomy of a Murder (1959), for which he earned his fifth Oscar nomination. During the 1960s, Stewart's movie credits included The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance (1962) and The Shootist (1976).

His final movie was the 1991 animated feature An American Tail: Fievel Goes West, in which he voiced the character of Wylie. Stewart died in Beverly Hills, California on July 2, 1997, at the age of 89.

New trial denied to constable

Motion for a new trial for Virgil Nichols, Pickett County, Tennessee constable convicted of manslaughter in Clinton Circuit Court, was overruled Saturday by Judge Terrill A. Wilson.

Nichols was formally sentenced to 21 years in the reformatory for the slaying of Virgil Dowdy.

After overruling the motion for a new trial, Judge Wilson granted an appeal to the Kentucky Court of Appeals and gave counsel until the January term of court to file a bill of exceptions.

Nichols is in Clinton County Jail. No bond is allowable pending appeal.

Kindergarten open

The Younger Woman's Club is sponsoring a kindergarten. Classes are being held in one of the rooms at school. If your child is nearing school age, talk to the teachers about sending them to kindergarten. Our first grade teachers say they can see a remarkable difference in the child who has attended kindergarten.

The Modern Kindergarten is an active, busy place. It is a small community planned for children and in this community the children learn to live happily and constructively together. Parents often ask, "Is it essential that I send my four or five year old child to kindergarten? What does he learn in kindergarten? Wouldn't it be just as well to wait another year or two and send him to the first grade?"

The answer to all these questions lies in a visit to a kindergarten class. One day spent in such a situation will show clearly some of the things that children learn and what kindergarten will do for them.

Children must be given a chance to be individuals. In the home, the child does not have as many opportunities to do so. The kindergarten teacher is aware of this and knows how to direct children's activities so that they will be educational and worthwhile. The child may be a little shy the first day, because their first break with the home is a difficult one for them. These are the children who especially need to learn independence. There are children who have never learned to share their play things.

Almost all of our teachers in this day and time will agree with what has just been written. A child that has attended kindergarten before entering school is ready to start learning the essential things in the first grade. They will be able to advance more rapidly than others who have had little or no training in their preschool years.

The children will hear stories and remember them, stories that you yourself have not had time to read them. They will learn to use their hands, make their own decisions, create things for themselves. A child has a very imaginative mind. Have you ever noticed your child closely at play? It is fascinating to watch them and learn what is in their little minds. Send your child to kindergarten. You won't regret it.

Chuck Wagon Gang to appear in Columbia

The world renowned "Chuck Wagon Gang" will be in person at the new Adair County High School Gym in Columbia, Kentucky on Tuesday, October 12 at 7:30 p.m. This is a special program put on by the Adair Chapter of the March of Dimes. The Chuck Wagon Gang is by far the most popular Gospel singing group, having been heard and loved by more people than any other singing group in the country. It is very seldom that this group will play any place as small as Columbia, but as an aid to the March of Dimes, they have been booked for this date.

Missionary meeting

The Christian Woman's Fellowship Group of the Christian Church met Monday evening, October 4. Members present were Mrs. Ella Nunn, Mrs. Roxie Perkins, Mrs. A. B. Gibson, Mrs. Bob Dyer, Mrs. I. O. Reneau, Mrs. Bill Nolan, Mrs. Noah Cross, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hancock.

After an interesting Missionary study, the group enjoyed a fellowship hour with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.
